

Don't let this happen!

Failing septic systems can release partially treated sewage into the environment. Untreated waste is a human health risk and pollutes our waterways .

Service the Septic System

Best Practices for a Healthy System:

Regular service by a qualified professional

Conserve water in the home

Flush only human waste and toilet paper

No harsh chemicals down the drain

University of Kentucky
College of Agriculture,
Food and Environment
Cooperative Extension Service